

Dear Floral Partners,

Thank you for your support as we have endured not one but two major hurricanes in an eleven month span. We know that these destructive storms adversely affected not only our production but your businesses as well. We appreciate your patience and purchases of Florida greens. This partnership has allowed us to rebuild after Hurricane Matthew and begin recovery once again after Hurricane Irma. Even though much progress has been made, a lot more repairs lie ahead. Perhaps more importantly, we are facing Valentine's Day 2018 with the smallest field inventories in more than 30 years. As an industry we are committed to providing you with the Florida foliage you depend on despite of these shortages. We thank you for your support this past year and ask for your continued support as we work hard to fill your orders successfully. Even with our best efforts we expect grading changes and order delays so please bear with us as we work through this latest series of trials. Together we can show the resourcefulness and resilience that has made our floral industry so strong.
